

Real Discipleship Survey

I attend worship regularly and set aside time daily for personal worship	I am drawn to the story of God's love and am beginning to explore the scriptures for myself	I give some when I attend worship	I am called not only to receive, but also to offer God's gracious acceptance to others
I know that as I grow in faith personally, I also need to more consistently work for justice and peace in my community, and am open to learning the causes of suffering for those on the margins of my community	I experiment by serving in different areas as I discover my gifts, talents and passions	I attend worship when a friend invites me, it is convenient, or I feel a need	I am developing a daily practice of prayer, scripture and devotional reading, opening myself to God
I am exploring new spiritual disciplines and experiencing a greater level of intimacy with God	I intentionally seek to build relationships with unchurched people in order to share God's love	I join Jesus and others to repair broken systems and structures that oppress, marginalize, and devalue God's people and God's creation, and I engage in this sacred work as a means of grace	I am often amazed at the way some disciples are selflessly serving others and I want to make a difference as well
I am giving more and giving more regularly	I honor God in the ways I work, play and engage others in relationships	I am curiously drawn to Christians who graciously accept me as if I belong with them already	I work with others to name the root causes of pain and suffering that people who live at the margins of society endure
I join Jesus in mission to others using my God-given gifts, talents and passion	I am tithing and consciously reordering my life to free up more resources to honor God and bless others	I am taking responsibility for my own growth through the daily practice of spiritual disciplines	I attend worship regularly, but I am growing to realize that I must attend to God every day
I seek to relate to others both in the church and beyond in ways that reflect God's hospitality to me	I join friends in marches or letter writing campaigns if it is convenient or I feel a need	I know Christ invites me to join him in serving others and I'm discovering how God has gifted me to do this	I am tithing and reconsidering how I spend the other 90%
